NINTH SUMMER SESSION OF MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

JUNE 30—AUGUST 10

1917
The Old Chapel
ANNOUNCEMENT

The Ninth Summer Session of Middlebury College will open to receive students on Saturday, June 30, 1917, and will close on Friday, August 10. Classes meet daily, Monday to Friday, inclusive, with the exceptions noted under certain courses. On Saturdays libraries and laboratories will be open to students, but class exercises will not be held.

The Summer Session offers courses similar in character of instruction and in standards maintained to the courses given by Middlebury College in regular sessions of the academic year. The instructors are selected from the faculty of the college and from teachers of known efficiency in special fields.

While the Summer Session is open to all persons of sufficient maturity to profit by the courses offered, a large proportion of those who enroll are engaged professionally in education, either as teachers or school officers, and the work of the Department of Pedagogy makes a special appeal to such. Middlebury leads the New England colleges in the proportion of students enrolled in courses in education, and stands near the head in point of actual numbers.

How can you invest six weeks of your vacation more pleasantly or to better advantage than by attending the Ninth Summer Session of Middlebury College?

Warner Science Hall
MIDDLETOWN COLLEGE is situated in a quiet New England village of the best type, about midway between the northern and southern borders of Vermont, on the main line of the Rutland Railroad, and is equally accessible from Boston, New York, and Montreal. A few miles to the east of the village rise the foothills of the Green Mountains, while the more rugged heights of the Adirondacks stretch across the western sky. The waters of the historic Otter Creek flow through the village and provide excellent boating toward the south. Abundant springs in the mountains furnish water of unexcelled purity. The college grounds of one hundred and fifty acres occupy a gentle slope rising above the village and are swept by the prevailing winds of summer and shaded by numerous trees.
PURPOSE

The Summer Session is conducted to meet the needs of prospective teachers seeking pedagogical preparation for their work, high school instructors desiring special training in one or two branches, graduate students pursuing studies for one of the master's degrees, and experienced teachers working for professional advancement. Courses of instruction have been carefully arranged to meet the requirements of such students and of others whose interest is more general. College students, graduates, and non-collegiates from various states, as well as teachers, principals, and supervisors, are to be found yearly in the different classes of the Summer Session.

REGISTRATION

There is no examination for admission to the Summer Session, or to any of its courses. Any person, whether prepared for college or not, may take up studies from which he thinks he can derive benefit. All students must register before beginning class work. In registering, the student presents to the Director of the Summer Session, for his approval, a schedule of studies he desires to pursue, pays his fees, and has his admittance card signed by the Director. Upon presenting the card to the instructors, the student is regularly admitted to classes.

ORGANIZATION

Students are classified according to their purpose in pursuing courses and their qualifications for securing credits in three sections: (a) College Extension Section; (b) College Section; (c) Graduate Section.

Students may enter courses in any one of these sections, or in more than one, without examination, and without being candidates for a degree therein; but students who desire credits must indicate that fact when they register, and they must present evidence of their qualifications before they will receive credits for either baccalaureate or advanced degrees.

CREDITS

(a) College Extension Courses are pursued for their cultural values and will not be counted for credit toward degrees. Such courses are lettered a.

(b) Courses of the College Section are lettered b and may be counted by properly qualified candidates for two credits towards a baccalaureate degree, A. B., or B. S., for each full course satisfactorily completed.

(c) Courses of the Graduate Section are lettered c and may be counted by properly qualified candidates for two credits toward an advanced degree, A. M., or M. S., for each full course satisfactorily completed. Candidates in this section must hold a baccalaureate degree from Middlebury College or from a college approved by the Committee on Graduate Work.

Credits for more than three courses will not be given an undergraduate at a Summer Session.

Courses pursued for credits must be completed by an examination, which shall be of the grade and standard given in such courses in the academic year. Final examinations are optional with other students, but are desirable for all.

CERTIFICATES

Students satisfactorily completing their courses will be given, upon application, a Summer Session Certificate indicating the work done. These certificates of work completed in Summer Session are useful evidences of professional study, and often are accepted by examiners, school boards, and superintendents in lieu of examinations.
THE MASTER'S DEGREE

Graduate students are welcome in all courses in which work is sufficiently advanced to count for a Master's degree. Particularly in connection with the Department of Pedagogy, a fifth year of college study is recommended in preparation for teaching. To obtain the degree of Master of Arts or Master of Science, thirty credits will be necessary. These may be gained by attending not less than four summer sessions. The Committee on Graduate Work will pass upon the credentials and courses of candidates for the Master's degree.

LECTURES AND ENTERTAINMENTS

It is the policy of the officers of the Summer Session to furnish throughout the session free public lectures, recitals, and various forms of social and intellectual entertainment to students in attendance. Two lectures a week have been given formerly. The parlors of Battell Cottage are open to the faculty and members of their families, while the large social hall at Pearsons is reserved three evenings each week for the exclusive use of the students and instructors of the French School and three evenings for the more general use of the Summer Session students under the direction of special committees. Programs are provided for occasional evenings, and dancing is arranged under committee direction.

OUT-OF-DOOR LIFE

Six new tennis courts were completed in 1912, three for men, conveniently located near the lockers and shower baths of McCullough Gymnasium, and three others near Pearsons Hall, which are reserved for women. The courts will be reserved by the College for the exclusive use of the summer students. No charge will be made for their use, or for that of the gymnasium and athletic field. Baseball games and tennis tournaments are planned for the season. Students should bring tennis rackets, nets, and baseball supplies.

LITTLE JOURNEYS

Many points of interest, like Chipman Hill, Battell Park (east of the village), the falls of the Otter, the Government Morgan Horse Farm, and Beldens, are easily reached by pleasant walks. On Saturdays, excursions are made to more distant places, Grandview, Bread Loaf Inn, Lake Dunmore, Rattlesnake Point, Silver Lake, Falls of Lhana, Pleiad Lake, Ripton Gorge, Fern Lake, Ellen and Lincoln Mountains, the Ann Story monument, and the famous cave of the Green Mountain Boys. Points of scenic and historic interest, such as Ausable Chasm, Ticonderoga, Lake George, and Lake Champlain, may be reached by excursions offered by the Rutland Railroad in the summer season. Motorboat trips on Lake Champlain may be made from Long Point and Thompson's Point at slight cost. The improvement of roads and the use of automobiles have greatly increased the number of interesting spots within the radius of a day's trip from Middlebury.

CHAPEL EXERCISES

Conforming to a custom which has prevailed since the beginning of the Summer Sessions at Middlebury, brief devotional services will be held in the chapel at 9:45 each morning, immediately after the second recitation period. The exercises, which will be in charge of Dr. Vernon C. Harrington, are inspiring and instructive. Attendance is voluntary. A choir will be organized from the students of the Summer Session under the direction of the School of Music.
BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

All the buildings and grounds of Middlebury College are devoted to the use of the students of the Summer Session. The Porter Athletic Field, eighty acres in extent, was opened for use in the spring of 1913, and furnishes fields for tennis, baseball, football, and track athletics. The old athletic ground, situated near the McCullough Gymnasium, on the campus, furnishes a convenient space for sports and is still patronized by summer pupils.

McCullough Gymnasium, a comparatively new building, is supplied with abundant locker rooms, shower baths, and equipment for students who play indoor games. All facilities for outdoor and indoor athletics are free to all students of the Summer Session.

The latest additions to the buildings of the college are Mead Memorial Chapel and Hepburn Hall. The latter is reserved for the exclusive use of the German School. Courses in Chemistry, English and French will be conducted in the Hall of Chemistry.

The Pedagogical Library is housed on the ground floor of the Chapel. Here may be found, in addition to a well-equipped educational library, current educational literature and files of leading magazines that relate to education. The Departments of German and History are located on the second and third floors of this building. The educational exhibit of the Spanish School will be placed on the third floor, also. The office of the Director of the Summer Session is in the pedagogical suite on the ground floor at the left of the entrance.

Starr Library, with a trained librarian in attendance, offers its facilities freely to all students of the Summer Session.
HALLS OF RESIDENCE

Pearsons Hall is a large white marble structure of colonial style, built in 1911 as a hall of residence for women. It is located on a commanding height overlooking the surrounding country in all directions. Close by is Battell Cottage, the home of the Spanish School, with rooms for thirty-two persons and a large dining-hall accommodating more than one hundred. Ample, shaded grounds adjoin Battell Cottage and Pearsons Hall, and the latter, besides containing single and double living-rooms, dressing and bath rooms, has a large social hall. Pearsons Hall is the center of the social life of the Summer Session and is the hall of residence for the students of the French School and the School of Music. Receptions, teas, recitals, and other social gatherings are held there by the faculty and students.

THE JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

A special opportunity will be given to all teachers and superintendents who face the question of reorganizing secondary education to study both the literature and the practical problems involved, and to witness teaching of pupils of junior high school age in the demonstration or junior classes which will be conducted in French and German, Physical Education, and Dramatic Reading.

Miss Mary Coleman, Instructor in Physical Education, Columbia University, will both direct the plays and games of the children and conduct a special course in physical education for the benefit of visiting teachers and school officers who are interested.

For further information on the children’s classes, see the descriptions of courses in the departments of French, German, Physical Education, and Dramatic Reading.
THE FRENCH SCHOOL

Professor H. P. Williamson de Visme, Director of the Ecole du Château de Soisy, Soisy-sous-Etiolles, France, and his Co-Director, Paul-Louis Jeanrenaud, with a staff of native French teachers, will conduct the French School. Special accommodations for this school are provided in Pearsons Hall, with separate tables in the great dining hall, and the exclusive use of the social hall in Pearsons on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings of each week. The number of students in the French School is limited.

THE GERMAN SCHOOL

Professor L. L. Stroebe of Vassar College, assisted by Fräulein Meta Harms, Co-director, and a staff of native German teachers, will conduct the German School. Special accommodations for the German School have been reserved in Hepburn Hall, including a separate dining-room, social room, office, and library. The number of students in the German School is limited to the capacity of Hepburn Hall.

The plan of work provides that students who enroll in the German School shall take up their residence in the German House and live and work in an atmosphere as distinctively German as if they were travelling or studying in Germany. As much ability to think and speak German may be gained by six weeks thus spent in the intensive pursuit of the language as by a whole summer of desultory study during foreign travel. By presenting this opportunity when foreign travel has become an impossibility, the Summer Session renders a genuine service to the cause of modern language teaching.
THE SPANISH SCHOOL

Professor Julián Moreno-Lacalle, of the Department of Modern Languages, United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, assisted by Professor José Martel, of the same institution, will conduct the Spanish School. Special accommodations for the Spanish School will be provided in Battell Cottage, with separate tables in the large dining hall. Castilian Spanish will be the language of the school.

SPECIAL CIRCULARS

Special circulars describe the plan of the Modern Language Schools and their courses of instruction, in detail. All who are interested should apply for these circulars. Students who have intended to enroll in the Summer Session for the study of French or German or Spanish are invited to adopt the intensive plan of work thus provided, but to those who find this impossible the former privileges of registering in separate courses and attending recitations will be extended, so far as the limitations of numbers permit. No beginners' courses will be offered, but demonstration classes of children will be in attendance. The special privileges of membership in the Modern Language Schools, individual guidance and help, the use of the special dining tables and the social features of the work will be restricted to those who enroll for the full courses.

THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

A special circular is issued of the School of Music, which will be conducted by Miss Minnie Hayden of Boston, well known as a teacher of voice. Miss Hayden will continue this year the special course in public school music, which proved exceptionally helpful to those engaged in musical instruction in educational institutions who took the course in 1916.

Miss Hayden will be assisted by Mr. Harris S. Shaw, of Boston, who will offer courses in piano, organ, harmony and counterpoint, and have charge of the music at the daily Chapel exercises.

TUITION AND FEES

STUDENTS in the German School will pay $30 tuition for their course, with no registration fee. Students in the French and Spanish Schools will pay $25 tuition in addition to the registration fee of $5. Students in the School of Music will pay the registration fee and the tuition rates as indicated in the description of the music course. Other students enrolling in the Summer Session will pay a tuition charge of $15 in addition to the registration fee and the laboratory fees. No charge for instruction is made to Vermont teachers and to clergymen who enroll in the regular session.

Vermont teachers are persons actually engaged in teaching in Vermont and holding a certificate issued by the state. All such who desire exemption from tuition should bring credentials with them.

Graduates of Middlebury College of the class of 1917 who have met the pedagogical requirements of the State Board of Education may avail themselves of the privileges of Vermont teachers and pay only the registration fee for matriculation. Other students of the college will pay also the tuition fee for instruction.

A laboratory fee of $5 is charged in each laboratory course in Chemistry.

Residents of Middlebury or Addison County may register in any single course offered for $5 in addition to the regular registration and laboratory fees, or in any two courses for $10 in addition to these fees.

Pupils in the demonstration classes will be registered at $5 each.

Books and supplies may be purchased at the College Book Store.

AUDITORS

Persons regularly registered in the Summer Session may apply to the Director for auditors’ tickets, which will admit them as listeners to specified lecture courses in which they are not enrolled as students for credits. Such requests will be honored so far as possible when they do not interfere with the work of the regular students.

BOARD AND ROOM

Accommodations can be secured outside the college in numerous homes and in the excellent hotels of the village, or in the college dormitories and dining halls. The students of the Summer Session who return year after year have adopted the practice almost invariably of making the college quarters their home during the session. Such an arrangement enables them to take advantage of the low rates and excellent accommodations. There is wholesome country food, supplied in abundance and variety from the college farm, prompt service, and an atmosphere of democratic friendliness.

Board and fully furnished rooms are provided at Battell Cottage and Pearsons Hall at prices varying from $7 to $11 a week, according to rooms, corner rooms and those more advantageously situated being charged for at a slightly higher rate than the others.

Occasionally cottages or houses in or near the village may be rented for the session or for the summer, and quarters in fraternity houses may be secured by men. The Director will be glad to aid any persons desiring to secure accommodations outside the college, but all the business arrangements must be concluded by the parties concerned.

The whole cost of the session, exclusive of travelling expenses, need not exceed $70; in the case of Vermont teachers, it need not exceed $55.

THE OPENING OF THE SESSION

All students should plan to arrive in season to begin work at the opening of the session, and should notify the matron as to the time of their intended arrival. In order to accommodate students wishing to avoid Sunday travel, the halls of residence will be open on Saturday, June 30, and students may also register on that day. Monday will be taken up by registration and assignments of class work, and recitations will begin promptly Tuesday morning. The first general assembly of students and instructors will occur in the Mead Memorial Chapel Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The German School will open one week later than the opening of the regular Summer Session.

RAILROAD FARES

Parties leaving New York at nine o'clock in the forenoon reach Middlebury in time for supper. The mileage fare is $5.81 over the New York Central and Rutland Lines. From Boston, the mileage fare is $4.52. The college is fifteen minutes' walk from the station. Carriages or automobiles may be secured to the college or to any home in the village.
PRELIMINARY REGISTRATION

The Director will appreciate it if students will inform him of their intention to attend the session and state the courses of study they desire. Any one expecting to attend is asked to notify the Director and make reservation for board and room. This preliminary registration is in no way binding. Copies of circulars of the Special Schools will be sent to any address upon request. Persons who desire fuller information may address the Director.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

CHEMISTRY

Perley Conant Voter, A. M.
Assistant Professor of Chemistry

1. Organic Chemistry. b
Lectures and laboratory work. A study of the synthesis, reactions, and preparation of the more important classes of organic substances. The work in this course will be adapted so far as possible to the individual needs of the students, particularly in the laboratory. Daily at 2. Laboratory fee, $5.

2. Industrial and Advanced Inorganic Chemistry. c
Lectures and assigned library readings on the various chemical industries, such as the manufacture of dyes, rubber, explosives, textile fibers, metallurgical and coal tar products. Students in this course will work very largely on individual problems and may specialize in some particular industry or along some particular line of investigation. There will be regular periods for consultation and discussion. Daily at 3 or some other afternoon hour to be arranged. Laboratory fee, $5.

DRAMATIC EXPRESSION

Gladys Lott
Teacher of Expression, New York and Boston

1. The Art of Reading. a
While this course is basically designed to awaken and develop in the student the ability to orally interpret good literature in a vital and interesting manner, it also includes the training of teachers in practical methods and processes to be used with classes in oral English, public speaking, production of plays. Special attention is given to voice production, diction and enunciation. Daily at 2.
2. The Junior Class

a. The children's class will meet daily for exercises in reading, the use of the voice, body training exercises conducive to correct carriage and position, and oral interpretation of selected passages. Much attention will be given to reading aloud, reproduction of passages committed to memory and to enacting simple drama. The results attained will show what may be done in Junior High Schools toward rendering the students' voices pleasing and expressive in whatever oral work may be done in the English courses. An interesting and valuable course in pantomime will be given, including descriptive and manifestative action, observation studies, pantomimic problems. Daily at 10:15.

b. Advanced Course—For students who have already completed the above course or have had some previous training in the work.

3. Story-telling. a

Story-telling has again taken its place among the arts. Its present popularity seems to be an outgrowth of the recognition of its educational value and teachers are adopting it in their class rooms. This course is designed to help teachers, librarians, etc., to acquire the knowledge of how to tell stories and what stories to tell. Daily at 11:15.

EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

Raymond McFarland, A. M.

Professor of Secondary Education

Frank E. Howard, Ph. D.

Assistant Professor of Pedagogy

J. William Sprowls, A. B., B. S.

Professor of Education, Bethany College, W. Va.

1. Seminar in Secondary Education. c

An intensive study of special phases of high school administration; consideration of educational standards; estimating the worth of teachers; evaluating educational products. Designed especially for principals and teachers in service. The work will be largely research in this particular field of education. Hours to be arranged.

Professor McFarland.
2. Clinical Psychology. a, b, c

A study of the various means by which teachers, superintendents and parents may determine the physical and mental status of the individual child, and the best methods by which his activities may be directed.
